FROM ENGLAND.

A Batch of Reports.

LONDON, August 25.—The entire command of McMahon left Rheims on Monday, hoping to protect Paris. Prussian scouting parties are near Chalons and Troyes.

Montmedy advices of the 23d (Tuesday) mention nothing whatever of Bazaine's junction with McMahon. Bazaine's reports find no credit.

Prussian detachments are reported at Chaumont and Brienne.

The Paris committee on defense has given an order for the destruction of crops and food in the departments of Marne and Seine as the Prussians approach.

Strasbourg is well defended, according to the Telegraph's correspondent. A destructive fire had destroyed all property within range of the guns.

The French armies now are well supplied with provisions of all kinds.

A Paris letter says the great fear of the Parisians is that some successes of the French arms may enable the Emperor to regain his power.

Correspondents of London newspapers concur that the French authorities will only treat for peace beyond the Rhine.

A dense fog still covers the battle-fields.

It is believed in Strasbourg that Marshal Bazaine has been severed from the main French army, and his power completely paralyzed. Chalons has been abandoned. It is said the forces of the Crown Prince will to-day enter that city, as well as Rheims, meeting with no resistance, while Prince Frederick Charles moves on Paris direct.

La Liberte, referring to the information received from private sources, says the siege of Paris is altogether improbable now.

La Patrie repeats, formally, that the Prussians were defeated in the battle of Sunday.

The Bank of England—What the Crown Prince Will Do—A Sortie at Toul.

A private dispatch, dated London, August 25, 2:30 p. m., says the Bank of England has reduced its rate of discount to 4 per cent.

It is reported that the whole of McMahon's army left Rheims on Monday.

It is believed the Crown Prince will join the armies in front of Metz.

There are strong detachments of Prussians at Chaumont and Brienne.

The garrison of Toul made a sortie yesterday, and seven hundred Prussians were killed and wounded in the action that followed.

The Crown Prince's Advance.

LONDON, August 25.—The following official dispatch from Berlin has just been received:

The government has received a dispatch, dated Bar le Duc, last evening, to the effect that Chalons has been evacuated by the French, and that a Prussian column is west of Chalons advancing rapidly.

Preparations for the Seige of Metz.

The preparation for the seige of Metz seems formidable. Intrenchments proceed with great activity. Paris papers are persuading themselves that Bazaine is realizing a deep-laid strategy.

Rumors in London of a French Victory—The Prussian Plans.

The following is a special to the New York Evening Telegram:

LONDON, August 25.—There is a great deal of excitement this evening over a rumor in the Stock Exchange to the effect that the Prussian army under the Crown Prince has been defeated by the French, under McMahon. The rumored repulse of the Prussians, although occasioning the wildest excitement, can be traced to no reliable source.

In the absence of official news from the armies it is believed that the Prussians will not hurry an attack upon Paris, but will turn their attention to the reduction of Metz and destroy Bazaine's army, leaving the Crown Prince to cut the French communication with Paris, watch McMahon and check any forward movement on his part to relieve Metz. It is further believed the Prussians are strong enough to disregard McMahon's reinforcements, composed as they are of raw troops.

The Investment of Metz—A Lot of Improbable Rumors—A Denial From the Queen.

LONDON, August 25.—A special dispatch from Berlin says that since last Tuesday Metz has been completely surrounded by a strongly entrenched force of Prussians. No attempt at a sally had been made up to noon yesterday.

Paris is utterly without news from the seat of war.

The entrenchments around Metz are completed.

It is believed that a deputation of the Corps Legislatif has gone to the Emperor to demand his abdication.

The Corps Legislatif is now permanently guarded by troops.

The announcement of the organization of a Provisional Government for France is imminent.

A quarter of a million of fac similes of Benedetti's secret treaty have been sold here since the war began. The French stories of the Prussians having passed the Belgian frontier or transported their dead and wounded through their country are untrue. When the question was broached by Prussia Belgium was inclined to yield on the ground of humanity but finally declined.

The Times is authorised to deny that Queen Victoria has had any correspondence with anybody on the subject of mediation, or that Gladstone is fearful that Prussia is becoming too strong.

Another Denial from the Pope—Napoleon Declines the Services of 8,500 Irishmen—Opinions of the Press.

LONDON, August 25.—The Pope repeats the denial of the story that he congratulated the Prussians on their successes.

Meetings were held at Liverpool, Coventry and other places to raise funds for the wounded.

The Emperor Napoleon declined the services of 8,500 Irish auxiliaries tendered by James Stephens.

The French telegrams to London occupy from 12 to 36 hours in transmission.

It is said that the French iron-clads towed two prizes into Cherbourg Tuesday.

The Post expresses satisfaction that the war is localized and that the scene of devastation cannot now be greatly enlarged.

The Times says: Until the Prussians learn that the Alsacians hate the Germans and France learns that the present invasion of her territory was not made in the spirit of the Duke of Brunswick four-score years ago, peace will be difficult if not impossible.

Prince Salm Salm Killed.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—Prince Felix Salm Salm, Major in the Prussian Guard, and who served in the American and Mexican wars, was killed in the battle of the 18th at Gravelotte.

The French Blockading Fleet—The Belgian Neutrality, etc.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—The city of Hamburg is filled with troops, with the French ironclads blockading Cuxhaven. There are also three merchant steamers, supposed prizes.

The Belgians intimate that the complaints of the French that Prussian wounded are allowed to cross Belgian territory are mere pretexts for an intended violation of their soil.

Meetings have been held at Manchester and elsewhere to raise aid for the French wounded.

Swiss surgeons volunteer for hospital service in the armies of both sides.

Austria, Italy and Russia.

[Special to the N. Y. Herald.]

LONDON, Aug. 25.—A dispatch from Vienna states that Count Chlotek, Ambassador from Austria to St. Petersburg, who was here in consultation with Baron Beust has returned to his post. Much significance is placed on the appointment of Count Novikoff as Russian Ambassador at Vienna, in consequence of his familiarity with the Eastern question, and the marked friendly tone recently adopted toward Russia.

Advices from Berlin state that, in consequence of the renewal of rumors of Italian intervention of France, the Prussian government has adopted precautionary measures. A special courier left Berlin to-day for Rome and Florence with dispatches.

Napoleon's Responsibility.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—La Liberte says that the Emperor, on opening the Chambers on the 18th of January, 1869, assured France that the military laws, which were to be proposed, and the appropriations to be asked for, would place the country in condition to meet all emergencies, are we not right in saying that he who uttered this and similar misstatements on that occasion is responsible for the present disasters, and what overwhelming responsibility before France invaded, before Europe astounded, and before history.

A Highly Important Movement of Marshal McMahon.

(Special to the New York Tribune.)

LONDON, Aug. 25.—Our special correspondent from Rheims, Tuesday, sends very important and late news of French movements, which was not allowed to be telegraphed yesterday evening:

There were about 150,000 troops in and about Rheims, under McMahon. During the night they began to move toward Ardennes, and are still moving in that direction. By noon this place will be entirely evacuated. They take the road to Bethel and Meziers, but even officers do not know how far they will go in that direction. If what is believed here about Bazaine be true, the two armies will soon be united. Bazaine is reported at headquarters to have said he could beat the enemy on the 20th, but if he waited till the 25th he could annihilate him.

This evening the march of troops which began last night continues. Artillery, infantry and cavalry came pouring in uninterruptedly through town. It is raining hard to-day. I compute that nearly 200,000 men in all have passed. There is no longer any doubt about the direction of this movement. From the officers of the baggage and supply train I learn that they have orders to go direct to Montmedy. Two baggage men who had tried to get towards Verdun had been stopped by the Uhlans, and all reports agree that every road thither is picketed by the Prussians.

Reorganization proceeds with the utmost dispatch. As one example, a train of 500 wagons, fully equipped, was organized and reached Rheims, from Verdun, in three days. High officers here are positive that a part of Bazaine's forces are between Bricy and Etain. Our own movements from Rheims to join him are made with the utmost secrecy. The second army of reserve, now forming near Chalons, composed of old soldiers, will reach 350,000 men. The Emperor will command the Imperial Guard in person.

Enormous Extent of the Prussian Invasion.

Our correspondent from the Crown Prince's headquarters, under date of 17th, says: No delay of advance. Town after town is occupied. You may hear of, but you can scarcely realize, the extent of the invasion. While the Crown Prince has advanced through Northern Alsace into Lorraine. Two other German armies have entered French territory from Rhenish Prussia, and the reserves are every day increasing. It is no exaggeration to say that the conquered provinces will barely hold the troops poured into them.

Phalsburg holds out. Gen. Lolhout received a flag of truce with a firm refusal to surrender, adding that he should next day (15th) fire a salute of twenty-five guns in honor of the Emperor.

Raising the Chalons Camp.

Our special correspondent at Paris writes that on Wednesday, before the Chalons camp was raised, it was fired to prevent the Prussians from occupying it, and to destroy a great quantity of stores which they had no time to remove. Telegraph clerks and other officials say they only got orders the previous evening to pack up.

The bombardment of Strasburg is said to have inflicted but little damage thus far. Heavy seige artillery is coming up from Landau, Rastadt, Mayence, and other Prussian fortresses.

FROM FRANCE.

A French Victory Reported.

PARIS, August 25, P. M.—The Figaro of this afternoon contains the following: "A person who arrived from the vicinity of Epernay, this evening, states that he was informed that the Prussians were defeated to-day between Verdun and Chalons.

A Review of the Situation.

The following is a special to the Courier des Etats Unis:

PARIS, Aug. 24.—A decided change is apparent in our military situation within the last forty-eight hours. We look back on ourselves after three weeks of disappointment, and to-morrow, perhaps, we shall take the offensive. Such, at least, is the opinion which prevails at the War Department and throughout official circles.

This is the intelligence which I have obtained: After the defeat at Froschweiler the details of the corps engaged retreated in pretty good order upon Saverne and Nancy, whence they were transported to Chalons by the Strasbourg railway as rapidly as the disorganized service of that line would permit. On the other hand, a part of the troops encamped in the center and south of Alsace, as well as the large garrison of Belfort, were sent forward to Chalons by the Paris and Muhlhausen railway. At the same time the expeditionary force concentrated at Cherbourg in order to operate on the shores of the Baltic and nearly forty thousand troops of the line were also dispatched to Chalons, where they all arrived in five days. These forces, added to the fifteen thousand regulars from Paris and the frontier towns of Belgium, made up an effective army of one hundred thousand men. Thirty-five thousand of the Garde Mobile were also added to them under the able direction of General Trochu. These forces, lately entirely distinct, have not been slow to consolidate into an army, homogeneous and not unused to war, and provided with all necessary material for the campaign.

After completing the formation of this army, General Trochu went to Paris to organize and create another new army. After having rallied, with considerable loss, the last detachment of the corps beaten in the battle of the 6th of August, General McMahon arrived at Chalons, and has been placed at the head of the army raised by Trochu. His first care was to secure his communications with Bazaine, who had been almost hemmed in at Metz by the Prussians. He succeeded, I am assured, and his advanced posts extended as far as Mezieres and Montmedy and covered the Ardennes railroad, and a line parallel with the frontier, which proves that communications with Metz are intact, as also the arrival yesterday at Soissons of a great number of Prussians, made prisoners at Gravelotte. Another convoy is on its way. This fact proves that this day, so fiercely disputed, was not without glory for us, since we have leisure to make and guard prisoners.

As for the plans of McMahon, nothing is published. I know the Ministry is inflexible on this point. The Prince Royal of Prussia seems to realize the risks which he is running, and will try, eventually, to go to the aid of his confederates in the Champagne, for it is affirmed here that he has retraced his steps, and retreated on St. Mihiel. It may be true, however, according to another report, that he continues his march on Paris by the Valley of the Aube. In any case we are ready to receive him.

Another battle, which occurred at Metz on Sunday, ended in our favor. Something decisive is preparing in that quarter.

The Violation of Belgium.

PARIS, Aug. 25.—The journals of last evening demand to know what action will be taken by the French Government, now that Belgium has permitted a violation of her neutrality by Prussia.

The Council of War.

At a council held yesterday Gen. Wimpffer, who has recently been operating against the rebels in Algeria, was appointed to the command of a corps, vice Gen. Failly. The council is now composed of the ministers and M. Rouher, Schneider, Persigny, Barroche, and Trochu.

The Advance on Paris.

PARIS, Aug. 24.—Midnight.—It is reported that the Prussians are at Sezanne to-day.

The Prince Royal of Prussia is reported at Nancy.

Nothing has been received from Metz, or from the armies of McMahon and Bazaine to-day.

The Attempted Assassination of McMahon—Reinforcements for the Army—The Camp at Chalons Burned—Reception of the Wounded—Matters in the Rear of the Prussian Army.

The following is a special dispatch to the New York Telegram:

PARIS, Aug. 25.—A report of an attempt to assassinate McMahon was repeated this a. m., but without particulars.

Reinforcements for the army continue to go forward. A number of Arab chiefs have gone to the front. A corps of Poles is organising for service in the French army.

It is positively ascertained that the camp of Chalons was burned by order of the Commander-in-Chief.

Extensive preparations continue for the reception of the wounded. Four large ambulances are kept ready in the Tuileries Garden.

The Empress yesterday personally visited the hospitals, inspecting the arrangements.

A number of Americans are among the subscribers to the new French loan.

The price of food in the rear of the Prussian army has advanced exorbitantly. Bread in Rhineland is seventy-five cents a loaf.

Further bombardment of Strasbourg has taken place without result.

Gayeties theater here admits soldiers free.

Forty-five thousand Prussian wounded have been sent to Germany.

The neutrality of Belgium has been violated by the Prussians.

Spirit of the Paris Press.

PARIS, August 25.—The Journal Officiel publishes an article of which the following is an extract:

Our ports are free. Our fleet will strike boldly on the North and Baltic Seas. Our commerce and industry are active. Our credit is good. There can be no comparison of our finances with those of the enemy. Prussia looked for treachery and discouragement here, and uneasily wonders at the promptitude of the nation in arming and organizing, and understands by this time that the more the struggle is prolonged the better is our situation. Our resources in men and money are inexhaustible. Though invaded, France arms the entire nation. The neutral powers remain friendly, but comprehend that there cannot now be a question of mediation.

The Siecle, commenting on an item of news, that the Imperial headquarters are at Rheims, says:

Who cares? McMahon can only have one headquarters—the center of operations. The Imperial headquarters can only be a superfluity, an embarrassment, a pretext for losing battles. The crisis is too dangerous to talk of the Imperial headquarters being anywhere near those of the Commander-in-Chief.

The La Liberte firmly demands of the Deputies (referring to the stormy session of the Corps Legislatif yesterday) to efface all individualities. "In our hour of need we must not compromise the future of France. There must be but one grand object in view—the country."

The La Liberte says France yesterday gained a great victory. In one day many hundreds of millions were paid into the Treasury. Prussia for two months has sought to procure a less sum vainly.

Extraordinary Heroism of Certain French Officers—Conrobert in a Sword Combat—Belgian Troops Ordered to the Frontier.

Michael Aloyes Ney, the Duke of Alchergen, received three saber cuts across the face at the battle of Gravellotte, and he was promoted to a Colonel on the field.

The defense of Toul by the National Guard and the Garde Mobile is described as very gallant.

At St. Marie aux Chennes Marshal Conrobert threw himself before his troops, and, after a sharp sword combat with a Prussian officer, drove the enemy back.

It is said that the garrison at Brussels has received orders to march to the frontier immediately.

More Rumors of the French Victory.

PARIS, Aug. 25, 9 P. M.—The Figaro has just issued an extra with the following news:

A person who arrived in Paris at eight o'clock to-night from Epernay, reports that he heard in that city that the Prussians were defeated to-day between Verdun and Chalons. Groups of Prussian stragglers, cavalry and infantry, were continually coming into Chalons. The combat commenced this a. m. about three o'clock, and the news reached Chalons and Epernay about three in the afternoon. Nothing definite is stated as to the number of men engaged, but according to rumor, the entire army of Prince Charles was in the fight. An order had been given to evacuate Epernay to-morrow. The trains going east on railroad from Paris to Epernay are stopped at Chateau Thierry, which is the new terminus of the line.

What will Save Paris—Removal of the Animals in the Bois de Boulogne—Arrest of Spies—A Novel Wager—Contribution from the Irish People—Belgian Neutrality.

PARIS, Aug. 25.—The Opinion Nationale says that to all who think of anything else than the driving of the Prussians from the soil of France it recommends the perusal of the following passage from a published Prussian plan of attack:

"Paris will never be in our power unless it is owing to political circumstances or moral reason which will oblige its defenders to open to us its gates." Political circumstances says the Opinion means revolution and moral reason means treachery.

A council of Ministers was in session half of to-day. It has been decided by the committee of defense that upon the approach of the enemy all crops in the departments of the Seine and Marne and in the environs of Paris be destroyed. So greater haste is urged on the farmers to store their produce in Government warehouses by the city before the enemy can seize it.

All the animals in the Zoological Garden, in the Bois de Boulogne, have been removed. A part of them have been removed and part sent to Belgium. Some of the animals are of great value.

More Prussian spies were arrested yesterday, taking plans of the works along the river Soire. Others were also arrested here. Some were detected with the troops of McMahon.

A remittance has been received from Dublin for the aid of the wounded. The Empress acknowledges the contribution in a note, in which she says:

This offering for the wounded French is received with gratitude. The generous sentiments which have inspired this act, and your wishes for the success of our arms and the happiness of the Imperial family, have profoundly touched his Majesty.

Prussian troops closely surround Strasbourg, yet the government treasurer managed to escape with over twelve million francs.

A Prussian Colonel has written to Emile Girardine offering a wager that he will be in Paris by the 15th of September. Girardine published the letter, and announced that he has accepted the wager.

The Belgian Minister here says that journals have received authority from his government to positively contradict the statement that the passage of wounded Prussians through the territory of Belgium has been permitted or attempted.

A Summing Up of the News—The Press Warned of its Indiscretions—The National Loan all Taken Up—The Emperor—Patriotism of the Country People—The Garde Mobile, etc.

PARIS, Aug. 25.—The Journal officiel says the sum of all the news received at the Ministry of the Interior is that the Prussians push their reconnoissance into the Department of Marne, and even to the town of Chalons. The Prefect of the Department of Upper Marne announces that a portion of the Northern arrondissements of Vassy is occupied by Prussian forces. Orders have been given that the March of the Prussians be opposed by every obstacle which the patriotism of the people can suggest, in addition to the systematic measures which will be executed under the direction of engineer officers sent out by the Government.

Official warning is given that the Minister of the Interior will be forced to apply the law regulating the press with the utmost rigor if certain journals, in spite of the representations made to them by the Government, continue to publish full details of troops, the state of the fortifications, and the composition of armies.

The national loan is closed, more than the amount required having been subscribed.

General Trochu reviewed the Garde Mobile yesterday. The men made a fine appearance.

A dispatch from Rheims, August 23d, says it was supposed the armies of McMahon and Bazaine had effected a junction, and, supported by the quadrilateral composed of the fortresses of Montmedy, Verdun, Thionville, and Metz, would await an attack. It was not expected any important engagement would occur within two days.

The Emperor quitted Courcelles last night, and goes to Beine, in the canton of Rheims. Yesterday the Imperial headquarters were at Chalons.

Grain-mills in the valley of the Seine and Marne and all their contents which could not be removed have been purposely burned. The country people are destroying the roads and doing all they can to impede the march of the Prussian armies. They will burn or destroy such provisions as they are unable to remove or store out of the reach of the Prussians.

Scouts of the Prussians have made their appearance at Chalons, Sur Marne, and also at St. Menehoued. The Prefect of the latter town and all the railway officials have left the place.

The Constitutionel says that, as the season is so far advanced, the Government has concluded not to give blouses to the Garde Mobile. The blouses will be replaced by warmer woolen garments, and the prefects have received orders to have them made where the troops are raised. This measure in a sanitary point of view is excellent, and, besides, will give employment to a great number of workpeople whom the war has reduced to idleness and destitution.

Cadres of the Garde Mobile have been formed everywhere, and guns distributed in the territories corresponding with those of the three grand army corps in the rest of France. The distribution is nearly completed.

The Corps Legislatif.

In the Corps Legislatif yesterday the motion of Keratry to enlarge the Committee of Defense was taken up and discussed at great length with much excitement.

Keratry defended his proposal and Clement Duvernois replied.

Jules Favre declared the misfortunes of the country came from that fatal management to which the Chambers had been compelled to submit. Said he: "This should be said: If it is to maintain a dynasty the country must fight"— The remainder of the sentence was lost in the uproar and tumult which these words caused.

Buffett said the only question was how to drive the foreigners from our soil. This was received with great applause. At the close of the debate the proposition was ordered by a vote of 210 to 55. The proposition of Keratry was then rejected—206 against 41.

Gambetta demanded news of the war especially concerning the battle of the 18th the position of the Prussian forces.

Chevreau, Minister of the Interior, replied that Marsceal Bazaine was too greatly occupied to send a report. He added that the telegraph gave no indication of an engagement to-day (Wednesday). It was time that Prussian scouts had been seen in the department of Marne and Aube; but in this respect no further advices could be given. The minister concluded by stating that if the French troops had left Chalons it was with the object of insuring the general defense of the country.

M. Thiers announced, in the name of the committee appointed to decide on the proposition of Keratry, that they were unable to arrange the matter with the Government, and hence the matter was left to Count Palikao, who, as a proof of his confidence in the Chambers, will select three Deputies to form a part of the Committee of Defense. The selections were made yesterday at the Council of Ministers, but it has not yet been accepted by the Chambers.

The sitting then dissolved.

Railroad Cut by Prussian Cavalry—The Corps Legislatif.

PARIS, Aug. 25.—Advices from Montmedy of the 21st say 500 Prussian cavalry cut the railroad at Autun.

In the Corps Legislatif yesterday the Minister of War declared that in France the tireurs were regularly enrolled and registered at the Ministry of War, and must be considered belonging to the army.

FROM PRUSSIA.

The King's Headquarters—Advance of the Crown Prince.

BERLIN, Aug 25, 7:30 P. M.—The Prussian Moniteur states that King William's headquarters have been removed from Pont-a-Mousson to Bar Le Duc. The headquarters of the first and second armies are near Metz, while the other corps continues the march on Paris.

PHILADELPHIA.

A Slow, Sleepy Old City—The Average Philadelphian—Codfish Aristocracy—Admirable Medical Institutions, etc.

[Correspondence of the Courier-Journal.]

PHILADELPHIA, August 22.

From Niagara to Philadelphia is rather of a long jump, but Prince Fisk's magnificent coaches whisked me there in an inappreciable time. I tarried but a few hours before I again took flight, and I will now hastily review the "Quaker City," or, as New York insists on terming it, "The One-horse Town;" and, indeed, it possesses more of the characteristics belonging to that class of cities than its quiet denizens would have a too confiding public believe. If Bostonians think their hamlet the hub of the universe, Philadelphians as strongly contend that they are the linchpin binding together the hub and its attendant spokes, without which the locomotor apparatus of all creation would be as disabled as a cave party without whisky, or a woman without gossip. But Philadelphia—Phila., as her intimates say—stretch her puny height as she may, and pipe her puerile strain never so loudly, is certainly a "slow" place. She struts, and puffs, and fumes; laughs derisively at New York, calls herself the metropolis, smiles benignantly upon all lesser lights, and gazes with contemptuous pity upon everything save the emanations from her own sacred precincts; but we are not at all impressed with the bold and impudent front she assumes, nor do we fail to see the ass's ears peeping from beneath the stolen hide of the lion. Again I say, Philadelphia is a "slow" place. A lebetude, mental and corporeal, pervades the inhabitants of this secluded retreat.

A PHILADELPHIAN

though he be as innocent of a Quaker brim or fustian wool sack as an infant of guile, is a very "old fogy" sort of person; his profession is generally retrograde, and he would no more adopt a new idea or encourage an ingenious project before all the world had proved its efficacy than he would do business on a liberal basis, or admit that any man, by some erratic freak of nature, might perhaps be as good as himself. With a conscious look of self-approbation, the model Philadelphian assures you his city society is more refined and upon a sounder basis than in any community in this broad land. Here, he asserts, is to be found the true aristocracy of America, family alone gaining a man entree among the elite, and of course there are no families except they be included between the Delaware and Schuylkill on one side, and pretension on the other. There is in Philadelphia a great deal of snobism and very little true culture. Of course, where society is so exclusive, everybody is one of the cherished few, and you will not find a man or woman above the condition of haberdasher and milliner that is not of the "upper crust." Every one is of the bon ton, and if the reader should ever find a Philadelphian who confessedly does not move in the "best society," I beg to be told of such rara avis, and no distance shall be so great as to preclude my proceeding at once to his place of abode, in order that I may investigate the peculiar phases of his mental aberration. Should you ever meet an individual who, in conversation and in demeanor, evinces intense egoistic feeling with entire reference of everything to self and a natural inability to form altruistic conceptions, believe me, he is a Philadelphian. Whatever may be her social status or commercial importance, however, the "Quaker City" is undoubtedly of this continent. Here flock students of medical science from every State and country, a full quota from the Canadas and Cuba being yearly entered at the various schools; while even England, France and Germany are not without representatives. I have been assured, and I can well believe it, that the advantages enjoyed here by students are unsurpassed in the world. The eleemosynary institutions are numberless and varied in character, all being freely thrown open to the young sawbones. The Pennsylvania Hospital, devoted to the treatment of recent injuries and acute diseases, is as admirably conducted an institution as I have ever seen at home or abroad. The Philadelphia Hospital, with its six thousand inmates, being also accessible; while the Episcopal, Howard, St. Joseph's, St. Mary's and Wills' Hospitals enlarge a field already ample. In making inquiries as to the government of these hospitals I was surprised beyond measure to learn that no member of the medical staff receives the least remuneration for his services. This is not the case either in France or Germany, the surgeons and physicians there in charge receiving from the government large salaries; and why it should not be so in the United States I am at a loss to divine. Why every employe should receive wages, every mechanic pay, and every officer salary, with the sole exception of the physicians, I can not reconcile with my ideas of right and justice. The men holding these positions are of the highest scientific attainments, and the duties incumbent upon them arduous, dangerous and unremitting, and by what process of reasoning all recompense to the men upon whom depends the very existence of the institutions is withheld, I cannot perceive. To my sense of equity and justice there is no reason why the physician, more than any other man, should give his time and brains for nothing. I am surprised at the indifference, or rather indolence, of the medical profession upon this point.

SCRATCHABOUT.

☞ The 3d regiment of Zouaves at Woerth went into action after a march of over forty miles in the rain. They fought from eleven until four. Then they retreated to Saverne by a march of twenty miles. Five hundred and fifty men only are left of the regiment. Forty-five out of sixty-seven officers were killed or dangerously wounded. All the rest are more or less wounded, with the exception of Colonel Bocher, who did not receive a scratch.

☞ At Reichshoffen, on the 6th August, the station master, M. Kossman, saw a convoy of munitions coming up by the train, which would have fallen into the hands of the Prussians. In the midst of the rain of bullets, the station-master rushed forward and signalized the coming train just in time to enable it to reverse engines. The train was saved, but poor Kossman fell, riddled with rifle balls.

Regulations for the Transportation of Goods in Bond.

Matters Concerning Tobacco Men.

[Special Telegraphic Correspondence of the Courier-Journal.]

THE CENSUS.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Nearly 1,500 volumes, of 1,000 pages each, will be required to enter the names returned by the census marshals throughout the country.

GOODS IN BOND.

The transportation of goods in bond, under the provisions of the bill which goes into effect on the 1st of October, calls for more stringent regulations in the opinion of the Treasury Department, and, in revising the regulations, Judge Richardson has decided that railroad companies carrying such goods shall first provide iron cars. The object is to protect the government as well as the merchant, and such cars as are to be conducted in compliance with this order, or such cars as the companies may have that will pass inspection, it is believed will prevent any one tampering with the contents, when once they are locked with a seal lock shortly to be selected.

TRANSCRIPTS OF SALES.

A New Orleans leaf tobacco dealer here presented to the Internal Revenue Bureau a bill for three thousand dollars for furnishing the Assessors of that city with transcripts of his sales of leaf tobacco during the past two years. The claim has been disallowed. Dealers are under no obligation to furnish such transcripts, but the law requires their crops shall at all times be accessible for inspection by the revenue officers. In this connection it is understood that the supervisors have been instructed to get accurate accounts of the sales of leaf tobacco and cigar manufacturers which will be furnished the assessors of districts and a general examination made of the accounts of cigar makers for the purpose of ascertaining if the law is lawfully complied with in all parts of the country.

Democratic Nominations in Vanderburg County, Indiana.

[Special Dispatch to the Courier-Journal.]

EVANSVILLE, August 25.—The Democratic County Convention, at Hartlen grocery, in the country, to-day, nominated Hon. W. F. Parrett for Criminal Judge, Jacob H. Miller for Sheriff, Joseph J. Reitz for Auditor, Jas. W. Sawer for Treasurer, and Isaac Kenn and George W. Shanklin for Representatives. Some dissatisfaction is expressed by friends of the competing candidates, as usual.

THE IRISHMEN.

A New Organization Finally Established Embracing the Whole American Brotherhood—German Patriot Concert.

CINCINNATI, August 24.—At the Irish National Congress, this morning, Jas. W. Fitzgerald, of Ohio, was elected permanent President; P. W. Dunn, of Illinois, Vice President; J. J. Harrington, of Indiana, J. W. Guff, of New York, and J. C. Boyce, of Pennsylvania, Secretaries.

Both branches of the Fenian organization are represented, as well as the Irish National Brotherhood. James W. Gibbons, President of one branch of the Fenian organization, has offered to surrender to the national organization all the property and funds under his control.

The following provisional directory is elected to hold office until a directory is chosen in the manner contemplated by the basis adopted: P. W. Dunn, Peoria, Ill.; W. J. Nicholson, Troy, N. Y.; J. W. Fitzgerald, Cincinnati; P. K. Walsh, Cleveland; Michael Boland, Louisville; John Brennan, Philadelphia.

Business occupied less time than expected and is said to have been transacted to the general satisfaction of all. The delegates generally departed for home to-night.

The congress continued its session until 3 o'clock, at which hour it adjourned sine die.

The following is the basis for the consolidation of the national organization:

First—Name, the United Irishmen.

Second—No salaried officers.

Third—The organization shall co-operate with the Irish revolutionary brotherhood of Ireland.

Fourth—The directory of seven shall govern the organization, three members to be selected by the Gibbons branch of the Fenian Brotherhood, three from the Savage branch and the seventh selected by the Irish National Brotherhood.

Fifth—The local circles shall send to the directory not exceeding ten per cent. of the gross receipts, the balance to remain in the local treasuries until required for immediate use. A committee of five was appointed to procure the official indorsement of officers of the respective organizations.

The German patriotic aid concert to-night was a great success. Over three thousand persons were present in the audience. Five hundred ladies and gentlemen, representing about all the musical societies in the city participated in the choruses. The orchestra was composed of sixty musicians. The German patriotic choruses, "Die Wacht am Rhein," and "Was ist des Deutschen Vaterland," and "God Save the King," were greeted with tumultuous applause. The mixed chorus and orchestra were led by Prof. Barnes, and the male chorus by Prof. Bruesseloack. The concert was one of the grandest ever held in Cincinnati.

Archbishop McCloskey Refuses the Pump.

[From the New York Sun, 24th.]

Archbishop McCloskey was last night visited by a Sun reporter at his residence, 218 Madison avenue. On being admitted to the house the reporter was shown into the parlor, and after the lapse of a few minutes the Archbishop made his appearance. He was dressed in a long black kassock that was buttoned up to his throat and made his tall, thin figure look still taller. The reporter said:

"I have been sent here, sir, to ask you a few questions, if you have no objection, concerning the Ecumenical Council, the state of affairs at Rome while the Council was in session, and the dogma of infallibility?"

To which the Archbishop replied:

"This is a matter, sir, about which I shall maintain utter silence at present. Should I say anything to you in this informal way I may bring certain clergymen into trouble. I shall wait with my remarks until I can make them in my official capacity, and in my official place. You are doing your duty in coming here, and I mine in not answering your questions."

☞ At Weissenbourg the Marquis d'Espeuilles, Colonel of Cavalry, at the Head of the Third Hussars, in order to give the Douay division time, charged seventeen times on the Prussian columns. At the last charge the regiment was reduced to fifty men, but the colonel, covered with wounds, led his men again.

☞ The Prussian and German cavalry are splendidly mounted. The artillery horses are, perhaps, not equal to the French teams, but the German privates are as well mounted as the French officers. The horses don't carry as much load either. The heavy cuirassier chargers are said by some observers to have a lighter load than the little African horses.

☞ All property-owners whose houses are in the military circle around Paris have received notice to move their household goods and stuff, as the buildings will be razed should military necessities require it.

THE STATE OF FEELING IN PARIS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—A competent observer, who arrived in the Periere from Paris on Monday, describes the state of feeling in that city regarding the war. "I was witness of much that occurred after the defeat of McMahon, and the retreat of Froissard. The French believe that the Prussians deliberately, wantonly and faithlessly insulted France. They want to fight, and mean to as long as physical power remains. In all the gatherings I saw, I never heard once "a bas Napoleon," or "l'Empereur." I often heard "Vive l'Empereur" and "l'Empire"—"a present c'est La France." That the French looked upon the quarrel as a family Prussian quarrel, and not a German quarrel, and were surprised at the North German Confederation making the war a German war, is true. It is well understood in France that the war was not a Bonaparte war; that the Emperor's personal wishes were for an European agreement to reduce the war establishments of the different powers. The French are surprised at the Prussian proclivities of English public opinion, as the alliance with England has always been most honest on the part of France. The necessity and use of it have been keenly felt by the Emperor, and its cordiality has been to a great extent his personal work. All shades of public opinion in France regard Prussia, in the words of Thiers, as "a bird of prey." This is the first war of the Empire to which the Faubourg of St. Germain, the old legitimists, have sent their sons. The Orleans princes were denied service, even as volunteers. The Socialists' party may see in the defeat of France a means of realizing a solidarity of humanity. It is possible, if emeutes occur or conspiracies exist, the work is theirs.

"The excitement in Paris on the news of defeats was largely due to the reaction from joy, excited by the hoax of an immense success, but the crowds were not combative, and were very easily dispersed. Public opinion has also condemned the Ollivier ministry as incapable. Upon its resignation the excitement, in a great measure, ceased."

THE INMAN LIBEL SUIT.

The Messrs. Inman, of the Inman steamship line, to which belonged the lost City of Boston, have brought action in the Court of Common Pleas, in England, against Benj. George Jenkins for an alleged libel. This libel was in reference to the loss of the City of Boston, and was contained in a letter in which the defendant made various allegations highly injurious to the plaintiffs. The defense has adduced much evidence for the purpose of showing that the City of Boston was out of trim, and that she was loaded too deeply. On these points there was most direct and positive contradiction between the witnesses for the respective parties. The case is not yet completed, and is exciting much interest.

DEATH OF AN OLD OFFICIAL.

Geo. Wood, Chief Navigator in that division of the Treasury Department, and in the Government civil service since 1818, died at Saratoga yesterday. Wood was formerly a well-known author and magazine writer.

SUPERINTENDENT JOURDAN.

Superintendent Jourdan is worse. His illness is dangerous.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—Nicolas Azcarate, special envoy of the Spanish Government, arrived in this city yesterday for the purpose of consultation with the leaders of the Cuban revolution to ascertain from them on what terms they will accept a declaration of peace throughout Cuba and the settlement of all difficulties. Mr. Azcarate, who is a native of Cuba, and brother-in-law to Mr. Fessler, financial agent in this city, of the insurgents. He found on his arrival, important instructions forwarded by cable from the Spanish Government's Minister of Marine and Colonies. It is not yet decided whether an interview with the Cuban leaders will take place in this city or Havana.

New York Stock and Money Market.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25—P. M.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company is still negotiating for the lease of the united companies of New Jersey, including the Camden and Amboy road.

The money market is easy at 4@6 per cent on call loans.

Sterling exchange is nominally unchanged.

The gold market opened at 117¼ and gradually sold down to 116¾, closing at 116⅞@117. There was some heavy selling at about the highest figures of the morning, and up to the close there were indications that gold had been bought back. At intervals during the day gold sold ex-clearing house at ½ per cent under the price. There was a story afloat late in the day that a bear pool was forming for the purpose of borrowing $5,000,000 gold on time and selling ex-clearing house for cash. A movement of this kind, if executed, would produce a lively sensation in the Gold Room. The rates paid for carrying were 2, 3, flat, 1¼, 4, 6 and 7 per cent.

The gold clearances to-day were $105,000,000.

WINTERSMITH'S
Extract Buchu
AND PAREIRA BRAVA!

This admirable combination of Buchu and Pareira Brava, the two best diuretics known to the materia medica, is meeting with unparalleled success. It has made some most extraordinary cures, and is rapidly superseding all other diuretics. It is infinitely superior to the other so-called Buchus in the market. The medicinal virtues of Buchu are well known to all, but with the remarkable diuretic qualities of Pareira Brava the public are less familiar. We give extracts, as published in Courier-Journal of late date, from the United States Dispensatory, the highest of all authorities:

Pareira Brava—Its History and Medicinal Properties—Extracts from U. S. and American Dispensatories.

"Pareira Brava, also termed Velvet Leaf, Ice Vine, is a shrub with a round, ligneous root, stems either smooth or close-pressed down, and climbing over trees."

"It is a native of the West Indies and South America. The root is the officinal part."

"Pareira Brava is tonic, aperient, and diuretic. It was introduced into European practice so long ago as 1688, and enjoyed great reputation as a lithontriptic. It is recommended in calculous affections, chronic inflammation and ulceration of the kidneys and bladder, leucorrhoea, dropsy, and jaundice. The purpose for which it is at present chiefly employed is for the relief of chronic diseases of the urinary passages. Sir Benjamin Brodie found it very useful in chronic inflammation of the bladder, in allaying irritability of that organ and correcting the disposition to profuse mucous secretion; and it has subsequently come into general use in the same affections. Great advantage may often be derived from combining it, in this complaint, with other diuretics."

We notice that our fellow-townsman Dr. Wintersmith combines it in his Extract Buchu and Pareira Brava with Buchu, Juniper Berries, Cubebs, &c. making it the most efficient diuretic now known to the profession.

What an Old Steamboatman says of Wintersmith's Buchu and Pareira Brava.

We call especial attention to the very flattering testimonial of Mr. Archibald Prentice, one of our oldest citizens, well-known to this community as a prominent steamboatman and river man for forty years:

LOUISVILLE, KY.

DR. WINTERSMITH:

DEAR SIR: I have been, for several years past, afflicted with a disease of the kidneys and bladder, accompanied with slight stricture. It has caused me a great deal of suffering, and has cost me a considerable amount of money, as I tried everything for it I saw advertised or could hear of that I thought might cure me, but nothing seemed to do me any good. I took medicines from our best physicians, but with no better success. I was advised to go to New Orleans and place myself under the care of a doctor there, noted for his successful treatment of cases like mine. I did so, and was under his treatment for several months, but I got no better, and last spring returned to Louisville, with no hope of ever being well again. I was very weak, and could scarcely get about. I was advised by some of my old friends here to try your Extract Buchu and Pareira Brava, as they had known it to make some wonderful cures. I commenced taking it, though with little hope of being benefitted by it. But from the very beginning I commenced to improve, and now, after taking only four bottles, I rejoice to find myself a well man again. I would recommend all persons similarly affected as myself to try it, for it has been a great blessing to me. Respectfully, ARCHIBALD PRENTICE.

LOUISVILLE, KY.

I have been acquainted with Archibald Prentice for over forty years, and know his statement to be true. I have frequently heard him say he believed, had it not been for Dr. Wintersmith's Buchu and Pareira Brava, he would have been in his grave long ago.
DENNIS C. HAMBAUGH,

I have known Archibald Prentice for years, and am cognizant of the facts set forth in his statement.
JOHN W. ARMSTRONG,

More Home Testimony.

Another cure made by Dr. Wintersmith's Extract Buchu and Pareira Brava.

DR. WINTERSMITH—SIR: I have been suffering for a long time from weakness of the urinary organs, producing involuntary or nocturnal emissions. Desirous of ridding myself of this terrible complaint, I had recourse to the various diuretic remedies of the day, buchu, &c. Nothing seemed to do me any good until I tried your Extract Buchu and Pareira Brava, two bottles of which have relieved me completely. Yours respectfully,
MARSHALL FRENCH,
30 Roselane street, Louisville, Ky.

A Voice from South America.

MEMPHIS, TENN., Feb. 12, 1870.

DR. WINTERSMITH—DEAR SIR: From long residence in South America, aggravated by a severe attack of Isthmus or Chagres fever, I have been suffering for years from inflammation of the neck of the bladder. The failure of the prominent diuretics of the day to give me any relief had almost led me to consider my case incurable. Why I tried your Buchu and Pareira Brava I do not know, for I was losing confidence in all medicines, but this much let me say, that to-day I am a well man, and in the full enjoyment of a sound constitution. The value the Buchu and Pareira Brava has been to me cannot be estimated in money. Yours gratefully,

A little boy 13 years old, named John Hartighan, living with his father on Flat creek, ten or twelve miles below Frankfort, was found hanging by the neck in a tobacco shed on Monday last. An inquest resulted in a verdict of voluntary suicide. He was the favorite of the family, and they could imagine no reason for the act, and were unprepared by anything in his conduct or state of mind to anticipate such an act. When the body was first discovered suspended with a rope about the neck, it was in such a position that the deceased could easily have rescued himself by stepping upon a large stone beside which his feet hung.

A swimming-match at New Orleans, between Lawrence Sweeney and John Clark, to swim the Mississippi river, resulted in Mr. Clark crossing from the head of First street in eleven minutes and a half, leaving his opponent full fifty yards in the rear. The time made by Mr. Clark is considered rather good, and he is so confident of his abilities that he issues a challenge to all within or beyond the State.

The young ladies of Columbus, Georgia, are hard to outwit. The young men of that city organized a bachelors' club. The young ladies then organized a slipper club. The young men then organized a base ball club. The young ladies have "followed suit," and are going to show these young gents that they can do some other things beside handling needles and scissors. A series of matches are probable (?).

An enthusiastic Irishman in Memphis went into a beer saloon and drank success to the "Frinch" in a loud and defiant tone. "Vat you say?" inquired a vigorous Teuton. "Here's to h—l wid King William," replied Pat, becoming bellicose. Thereupon a fight ensued, during which the German got his head broke with a chair. This time it was a victory for Napoleon. An amateur peace convention settled the matter.

A woman had a New Orleans policeman arraigned before the Board of Commissioners, on Monday, on a charge of rudely insulting her. Being called upon to state the nature of the insult, she said he had called her a "woman," a term never before applied to her. She wanted it understood that she was a "lady." It turned out that the officer found her with her feminine ear at a neighbor's key-hole, and informed the people inside that a "woman" was eavesdropping at their door. The "lady" left the court in disgust.

At Kennerville, Louisiana, on Saturday evening about eight o'clock, a colored man named Francois Bennett was shot and almost instantly killed by William Thomas, colored, with a shot-gun. Thomas was arrested and locked up in jail. It seems that Thomas had formed an attachment for the daughter of Francois Bennett against the wishes of the latter. Saturday night he went with a double-barreled shot-gun to the residence of Bennett, called him out, and shot him through the throat.

James Gogan was arrested in New Orleans on Monday, charged with having, on the 16th inst., so severely beaten his wife that she died the following day. The affair occurred on the Fairfax plantation, parish of St. Mary, where the accused was employed as an engineer. He is forty-three years old, a native of Ireland, and rather above the usual height of men. He was found in Strong's house, St. Charles street, and when arrested, looked as if intoxicated or crazy. The charge was made by Miss Catherine Mohan, sister of deceased, who states that the two had lived together very unpleasantly for a long time.

Last week a boy ten or twelve years of age, son of Dr. Adams, of Pineapple, in Wilcox county, Alabama, was found in the parlor of his father's residence hanging by the neck by means of the sleeve of his jacket. When taken down life was extinct. On the floor near him was found a book, the opening pages of which contained the closing scene of a narrative of the hanging of certain robbers. The door of the room was locked on the inside. It is supposed that the story of the hanging, which it seems he had been reading, inspired him with a desire to try the experiment, and, fastening himself in for fear of interruption, twisted his jacket to accomplish his purpose, with the fatal result above stated.

A duel took place on the Jackson railroad at a point near the line which divides Louisiana and Mississippi, on Sunday, between Gen. Monk and Capt. Shoemacker, both of New Orleans. It grew out of an insult from the greater to the lesser officer regarding a lady acquaintance. Three shots in all were fired. The signal being given they both fired in the air, and also at the second shot this was repeated. At the third shot Gen. M. called out that he would not miss this time, when Capt. S., who is a crack shot, took a good aim. They both fired exactly at the word. Capt. S. gave a slight jump as if stumbling over something, and after stepping about ten paces sat down. Gen. M. turned a perfect somersault, he being shot in the fleshy part of the thigh, the ball going straight through and lodging in his drawers. Capt. S. received the ball going through the calf of the right leg, the ball going clear through. The latter returned triumphantly to the city while the former took up quarters near the field of battle.

The Iowa Democracy, having repudiated the leadership of HENRY CLAY DEAN and organized upon a live platform to give the Radicals something like a real battle, a red-hot journal called the Copperhead repudiates the Democratic platform as "a batch of silly stuff not worth the paper it is written on." We find a long article from it copied by the Radical organ of Iowa. In this article it makes open war upon the Democratic organization of that State because the convention had voted down certain abstractions which Mr. DEAN has long expounded with great eloquence and little effect from many a stump in Iowa. The article winds up with this declaration of war:

> Satisfied that the honest Democracy of the State of Iowa will sustain the position we have taken in this matter, we feel encouraged to still combat the pernicious faction which now usurps control of our organization.

This is the spirit of the red-hots everywhere—rule the party or break it up. For a platform which is not a reprint of HENRY CLAY DEAN's anti-war speeches the Copperhead would not give a pipe-full of Kentucky tobacco. Unless dead issues are resurrected for the benefit of a few ante-diluvian orators it cares not whether CÆSAR or POMPEY reigns. If the Copperhead and all other papers like it will follow their great leaders, LOGAN and BUTLER and BRICK POMEROY's managing editor, over into the Radical party at once they will thus render some little compensation for the injury their advocacy has inflicted on the Democratic party.

Two Extremes.

Some surprise is felt, or at least affected, in certain quarters that LAMBERT, BRICK POMEROY's brains, should have quitted the post of managing editor of BRICK POMEROY's Democrat to become the editor of a Radical paper out West.

There is nothing surprising in this. A red-hot Bourbon and a red-hot Republican are next-door neighbors, supplying each other with electioneering material and receiving one another with a warm welcome when either wants to change his coat.

We need not go back to the red-hot LOGAN and the red-hot BUTLER of other days for illustrations to prove how easy it is for extremes to meet and mingle. JOHN FORSYTH, less politic than his fellow Bourbons, tells us plainly that unless he can get what he knows in advance he cannot get he would not give a pipe-full of Kentucky tobacco for the Democratic party. LAMBERT is only a little more practical and progressive than JOHN FORSYTH. That is all. LAMBERT has tried red-hot Bourbonism, as a business, and found, by actual experience, that it does not pay. So, caring as little as JOHN FORSYTH for the Democratic party, he is ready to go over at once to the Radicals; and, doubtless, he is able to explain that, finding there is no chance for a white man's party, nor for the sort of red-hot Bourbonism which has been the staple of BRICK POMEROY's Democrat, he prefers to desert, bag and baggage, to the enemy, or—to quote a red-hot organ—he would rather "take his Radicalism straight, to mixing his Democracy with mongrelism." In other words, he has experienced what the politicians call a reaction. He has gone the whole hog of Bourbonism, has failed to secure the appreciation he expected, and, disappointed and angry with the National Democratic spirit which has thwarted his purposes, he wants revenge, and, naturally enough, seeks it in the Radical camp.

As we have used JOHN FORSYTH as an illustration, just one word about him. We do not mean to charge him with anything unworthy or equivocal. He is a thoroughly cultivated, honest, perverse gentleman; an out-and-out politician; a man of the world who has, for the moment, lost his temper and his reckoning; a melancholy victim to Government street, tight boots and "other days." His "HAMLET with the part of the Prince omitted" is a mere trick of the pen. His pipe-full of Kentucky tobacco is a simple bit of rhetoric. Without meaning it, he is publishing a daily campaign bulletin for the Radical party. Without knowing it, he is but one door removed from Radicalism. But he could not be bought out, like this LAMBERT, because, with all his errors and short-comings, he is honest. He means well, but he is mistaken, and we yet hope to see him, as we have seen the red-hot Memphis Appeal, "come round all right." Our complaint is that before he does see the error of his ways he will have done all the mischief he can do, or at least more than he will be able to undo by abilities which are only useless because out of joint, morbid and impracticable.

☞ The Princess SALM-SALM, a lady not wholly unknown in Mexico and Georgia, has been licensed in Germany to practice surgery, and has gone to the front. She is anxious to test her skill by amputating the head of LOUIS NAPOLEON. If she thinks SHERIDAN's would do as well, she is welcome to it.

☞ The Boston Post says "Utah has got rid of the grasshoppers, and now the small-pox has come." It strikes us that a people who have stood two or three female lecturers and the Rev. Mr. NEWMAN ought not to complain of the grasshoppers and the small-pox, even if they were to come both at once.

☞ A major in HOLDEN's militia has been dismissed the service "for conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman." Of what particular act he was guilty we do not know, though it is likely that he plundered but one hen-roost when he might have plundered two.

☞ Health is a powerful instrument in the hands of a man worth forty or fifty millions. What a tremendous stir VANDERBILT could create in the New York stock market by simply taking a single dose of strychnine! And, then, just to think, too, that he won't do it!

☞ Since the adjournment of Congress General GRANT has played the glass of fashion and the mold of form at half a dozen different whisky-and-watering places. He is, unquestionably, the most diffusive gay and festive cuss that has broken out this season.

☞ Ex-Gov. ORR, of South Carolina, has been waiting five years for an opportunity to sell himself into scalawaggery. Finding it impossible to obtain his own price, he has at last determined to accept anybody else's.

☞ Two years ago France invited the whole world to Paris. Now, when a number of distinguished gentlemen from beyond the Rhine seek to pay her capital a visit, she slams the door in their faces.

☞ It is said that while at Saratoga the other day General GRANT lost a hundred and fifty dollars. Let the youth of America remember the fact and shun keno.

☞ The Boston Advertiser says "Gen. BUTLER was the 'best boy' in school." It may be added that he is now the worst man out of school.

KENTUCKY POLITICS.

The Democratic Masses Forming the Line.

Meetings in Daviess, Washington, Larue, Garrard, and Other Counties.

Democratic Convention at Owensboro—Hon. Henry D. McHenry for Congress.

[Courier-Journal Official Report.]

In response to a call of the Democratic Executive Committee a grand mass meeting was held in the court-house at Owensboro, on Saturday last, the 20th inst., for the purpose of giving an expression of opinion as to the choice of the district for a representative in Congress from this district, and to appoint delegates to express that choice in the District Convention to be held at Henderson on Monday, the 19th day of September next.

On motion, Judge E. C. Berry was called to the chair, and Thos. S. Pettit and J. G. Ford selected as secretaries.

A series of resolutions were presented by Judge Alex. Graycroft, and a substitute for the same by W. T. Ellis, Esq., but, on motion, action thereon was temporarily suspended.

On motion, the meeting proceeded to an expression of choice between the various aspirants for Congressional nomination.

Dr. J. Q. A. Stewart nominated the Hon. H. D. McHenry, of Ohio county.

Judge G. W. Triplett presented the name of the Hon. J. W. McPherson, of Christian county.

S. P. Tompkins, Esq., that of Hon. L. Y. Bush, of Hancock county.

A rule was adopted to take the vote by the agency of tellers—R. H. Taylor, Clinton Griffith and H. P. Tompkins, Esqs., acting in that capacity; and that the name of the hindmost gentleman be dropped until a selection should be made, a majority of all the votes cast being necessary for that purpose.

Upon the eve of a count by the tellers, Dr. F. T. Conway moved that the meeting adjourn, which motion was decided at that stage of the proceedings out of order.

The vote was then taken with the following result, viz: For Mr. McHenry, 155 votes; for Mr. McPherson, 96.

And before the vote for Mr. Bush was counted he asked that his name be withdrawn from the body.

Mr. McHenry having received a majority of all the votes cast, was thereupon declared the unanimous choice of the convention.

The resolutions, temporarily laid over, were then taken up.

Permission was given Mr. Ellis to withdraw the substitute resolutions offered by himself; when the question recurred on those presented by Judge Alex. Graycroft, which were unanimously adopted, and read as follows, viz:

Resolved by the Democracy of Daviess county in mass meeting assembled, That we hail with delight the growing strength and prosperity of our party in the State and throughout the country, and we hope the day is not far distant when the country will return again to the old, time-honored principles of constitutional liberty and Democracy.

Resolved, That we, the Democracy of Daviess county, desire to express the pride and gratification which we feel towards our two distinguished fellow-citizens, Hon. T. C. McCreery, our Senator, and the Hon. Wm. N. Sweeney, our Representative in the United States Congress, and to express the hope, as to the former gentleman, that the Democratic party of the State will by this time have realized the great injustice and wrong that have been done him, and will seek the first opportunity that presents itself to return him to the seat in the United States Senate, which he has filled so ably, satisfactorily, and honorably to the party and State; and that the latter gentleman is a faithful, zealous, and distinguished representative of the feeling and policy of the party in this district, and we here most heartily indorse his course as a member of the House of Representatives, and we believe it to be indorsed by the whole district, and had it been his desire to return to Congress, we would with pleasure and pride have cast our vote for him.

Resolved, That we approve the holding of a convention, to be held at the city of Henderson, on the 19th of September next, and we hereby instruct our delegates to cast the vote of this county for H. D. McHenry, and the chairman of this meeting is directed to appoint a committee of five to name delegates.

Under the provision of the third resolution, the following gentlemen were selected: George W. Triplett, J. G. Taylor, J. Q. A. Stewart, Geo. Smith, D. M. Griffith, who reported the following persons as delegates:

D. M. Griffith, S. C. Elliott, T. C. Jones, A. M. C. Simmons, S. P. Tompkins, Robert Craig, Clinton Griffith, Camden Riley, J. G. Ford, Thomas S. Pettit, Alex. Graycroft, J. Q. A. Stewart, F. T. Guenther, George Smith, Edwin Hawes, J. G. Taylor, Jo. Veech, F. M. Daley, W. S. McMahon, John G. McFarland, Dr. Sam. Haynes, Dr. W. A. Hickman, John A. Robertson, John Glenn, Decius Prest, Baker Boyd, J. H. McHenry, Jr., Thomas C. McCreery, W. N. Sweeney, Sam. Jesse, John H. Clemens, S. S. Watkins, W. T. Ellis, D. K. Weir, W. L. Berry, L. W. Whayne, E. C. Berry, George W. Triplett, Ben. Duncan, E. H. Luckett.

The committee appointed by the chair was, on motion, added to the list of delegates.

Messrs. Bush and McPherson announced their retirement from a further canvass of their claims in the district, and Mr. McHenry returned his thanks for the honor bestowed upon him, in most excellent and well-timed speeches.

Resolutions of thanks were extended the chairman and secretaries for the faithful discharge of their respective duties, and with a request that the Louisville COURIER-JOURNAL and every Democratic paper in the district copy the proceedings. The convention then adjourned.

E. C. BERRY, Chairman.

THOS. S. PETTIT, J. G. FORD, } Secretaries.

Washington County Democratic Convention.

[Courier-Journal Official Report.]

Monday, August 22, being our last County Court day before the meeting of the Democratic District Convention, to be held at Lebanon, September 20th, to nominate a candidate to represent the Fourth District in the Forty-second Congress, a county convention was held at the court-house to select delegates to represent the county in said District Convention. The meeting was called to order by the Chairman of the County Committee, and Thos. S. Grundy chosen as chairman of the convention and Jas. S. Ray, secretary. On motion a committee on resolutions was appointed, who retired for consultation, and Hon. Joseph Chandler, of Taylor county, addressed the convention in an able manner during their absence; after which the committee reported the following resolutions, which were adopted, to-wit:

Meeting of the Democracy of Garrard—Hon. G. M. Adams for Re-election.

[Courier-Journal Official Report.]

At a meeting of the citizens of Garrard county, held in the court-house in Lancaster, Ky., on Monday the 22d day of August, 1870, James A. Beazley was called to the chair, and Alex. R. Denney was appointed secretary.

On motion the following named gentlemen were appointed a committee to draft resolutions stating the object of the meeting: Dr. Jennings Price, Col. E. M. Leavell, Wm. Lawson, Wm. L. Kavanaugh, Jas. Saunders, Jas. P. Nave, John W. Perre and B. F. Robinson.

While the committee were out preparing the resolutions, Major M. H. Owsley made a speech to the house indorsing the course of our present Representative, Hon. Geo. M. Adams, in the Congress of the United States, and presented his claims as a candidate for re-election. The following resolutions were reported:

Resolved, 1. That we, the Democracy of Garrard county do most heartily indorse the Congressional course of our gifted and highly-popular young Representative in Congress, Hon. G. M. Adams.

2. That in these times of great political excitement, agitation, and change, it is as important as necessary to have a representative that we are thoroughly assured in advance will be true and faithful to public interests as Adams has proved himself to be.

3. That the recent election—contested-election case of Barnes vs. Adams—the signal ability and energy manifested by Adams, entitle him to the confidence and united support of the Democracy of the Eighth Congressional District.

4. That the delegates from Garrard, in the convention of this district, our talented and efficient Representative, Hon. G. M. Adams, be hereby instructed, and promise a warm and enthusiastic support for him in the ensuing November election.

On motion the COURIER-JOURNAL and Danville Advocate were requested to publish the proceedings of the meeting.

JAS. A. BEAZLEY, Chairman.

ALEX. R. DENNEY, Secretary.

The Second Kentucky District.

Daviess county having instructed for Hon. H. D. McHenry, Messrs. Bush and McPherson have withdrawn from the canvass. The Owensboro Monitor, premising that Mr. McHenry has already received the indorsement of a sufficient number of counties to secure his nomination by the District Convention, and predicting his election by an unprecedented majority, speaks of him as follows:

Henry D. McHenry is so well and favorably known in the politics of this State, and especially of this district, that it is useless for us to say one word in his behalf. He was born in Ohio county, his present residence, and when barely eligible for the office was elected to the Legislature in 1853. In 1861 he represented the district composed of of the counties of Butler, Ohio and Muhlenburg, in the Senate of Kentucky, and at the expiration of his term was called upon again to represent his county in the lower branch of the General Assembly—running against and defeating the Radical candidate. He was strongly urged for the position of Speaker of that body, but was defeated by the Hon. Harrison Taylor. He was made chairman of the Committee on the Judiciary, and at the same session of the Legislature came within two votes of an election as United States Senator when Garrett Davis was chosen. In all these positions of confidence and trust he discharged his varied and delicate duties with a conscientious fidelity; and, whilst there might be those who differed with him, yet they accorded him honesty and fidelity of purpose. His manly bearing and genial nature win him friends and admirers everywhere, and we would not be amiss in saying that but to know him is to respect and esteem.

Stone's Patent Tobacco Plug Machine.

THE patentee and proprietor desires to call the attention of tobacco manufacturers to his plug machine, now in operation in the tobacco factory of Messrs. Finzer & Bros., No. 13 Third street, between Main and Water. This machine was patented on the 17th day of May, 1870, and should be in the hands of every manufacturer of plug tobacco, which will be at once admitted upon examining the advantages which it possesses over other machines or hand work. These are as follows: First, the machine is not complicated, is simple in its construction, and makes the plugs from the material itself without cutting the edges of the plug, which gives the tobacco when finished the appearance of hand work, from which it cannot be detected; the machine is so constructed that the pressure may be readily adjusted to all classes of tobacco from bright to dark; it is adapted to the manufacture of tobacco from ... pounds and ... which no other machine now in use can do. CAPACITY.—The capacity of the machine to turn off work is its remarkable feature—it can easily make 6,000 pounds of lumps, either all-pounds or pounds, in a day of ten hours, and this is accomplished with the aid of one man and two boys, and it has the capacity of manufacturing 3,000 pounds per day if desired, and these facts can be demonstrated to any one who will examine the machine. Any one desiring further information in regard to the machine can obtain it by calling upon the proprietor or Messrs. Barbaroux & Co., corner of Washington and Floyd sts. CITY DIRECTORY NOTICE.

UNDERSTANDING that another attempt is to be made toward publishing an opposition Directory for the City of Louisville, and in order that the public may be made aware of the character of the concern, I would say it comes from the same person, C. K. Caron, who, last year, with the reputation of a respectable house, procured from the business men of the city a large amount of money for the purpose of publishing a so-called Business Directory. When issued it was found to be a reprint of the Business portion of the regular City Directory with a little alteration. IF PAID FOR. This community has often been humbugged and swindled by Directory adventurers, and it is absolutely surprising that they are tolerated to walk the streets. As we publish Edwards' Directories for the various cities of the South and West, we propose preparing a Trade List of the leading Business Houses and Manufacturers of Louisville, which will be bound in the City Directories of Memphis and New Orleans. Those wishing larger space may make arrangements with the Agent. The growing trade of the Southern States urgently desired, and we know of nothing that will give business firms such prominence as an advertisement in these Standard Works. Each subscriber to and advertiser in Edwards' Louisville Directory for 1871 will be entitled to have his name, business, and address in the Trade List free of charge. SOUTHERN PUBLISHING CO., New Orleans, Louisville, and St. Louis. RICHARD EDWARDS, Vice Pres't and Managing Director.

FINANCIAL.

Louisville, Cincinnati, and Lexington Railroad Company.

Eight per Cent. Mortgage Bonds.

A LIMITED number of these bonds are placed on the market and offered to the public at the low price of eighty-five cents on the dollar and accrued interest, and may be had on application to the Treasurer of the company. No discount or commissions allowed.

The company now propose to sell $500,000 of their late issue of one million of dollars, the payment of which is secured by a mortgage lien on all the property and franchises of the company, embracing their lines of road from Louisville to Lexington and their Short-Line branch road from Lagrange to Cincinnati, in all about 180 miles of completed road in first-rate running order, and in full and successful operation, and on all their equipment, and on all other property and franchises of the company. This mortgage is subordinate to previous liens amounting to a little over $3,000,000; but the whole mortgage liens, including these bonds, amount to little if any over half the cost value of the property.

These bonds are, undoubtedly, a good security and safe investment for a good return of interest at the price at which they are offered. Those wishing to secure them will do well to make early application. The bonds are in sums of $1,000 each, the interest payable semi-annually on the first days of April and October. The principal is payable in thirty years from date.

Orders from a distance will be filled through such banks or express conveyance as may be directed. NORVIN GREEN, President. W. H. BEYNROTH, Sec'y and Treas'r. jy31 d&wim

WINTERSMITH'S TONIC SYRUP,

—OR—

IMPROVED CHILL CURE!

A Certain Remedy for Every Form of FEVER AND AGUE.

Contains No Quinine or Arsenic.

Is Pleasant to the Taste.

Chills Once Broken Do Not Return.

It accomplishes the work by removing the cause of the disease. Unlike Chill Remedies generally, it requires no purgative to be taken with it, the medicine itself acting gently and agreeably upon the Liver and Bowels, effectually removing the cause of the disease, not merely checking it, as is the case where quinine and arsenic are used, which are the principal ingredients of most of the medicines in the market. All who have had Chills and Fever, and have taken quinine or arsenic, are aware that the medicines often leave the system in an unhealthy condition, making it more difficult to relieve it of their effects than of the original disease. Wintersmith's Improved Chill Cure leaves the system in a perfectly healthy condition with no bad effects in any way to be worn off.

Price $1 per bottle; six bottles for $5.

THE WHITE MAN'S PARTY.

Views on the Mississippi Democratic Platform.

[To the Editor of the Courier-Journal.]

"We suggest obedience to the laws as the new issue, but regarding them as unconstitutional, we appeal to the people to elect a new Congress, so that every man in Democratic ranks to work to effect a change in administration and repeal of all illegal and unjust laws."—Jackson Clarion.

The above extract is taken from the Democrapolis (Ala.) Exponent, and indorsed by the Frankfort Yeoman. As the red-hot editor is determined to repeal all the laws he calls illegal and unjust laws, and is pleading for every Democrat in the land to work in the same traces, I suppose he, too, would be pleased to know, before pitching in, where the work is to begin. That act of the Government whereby millions of dollars' worth of slave property was taken from the citizens of Alabama, is doubtless classed with the illegal and the unjust. Shall we begin there, and go to work with the view to restore that property to its rightful owners? If so, we have a change of the party name. Let us style it the "slave-owners' party," and fight under that banner. Or how would the "Southern-red-hot-and-angry-on-general-principles-the-Union-must-be-restored-Democracy-Southern-Confederacy-bonnie-blue-flag party?" Couldn't think name rally more of the red-hot element than all others? Or perhaps the "Red-hot-Republican-Dead-ass party" might answer as well. If a national party is to be founded on sectional prejudices it is well to make the issue a little more general, and please matters. True, such a party could effect nothing under the sun for the good of the people, but what of that? If men are going principle alone, it would be a curiosity to behold more genuine principle than the simple "white-man's party" does. It does n't ask for the vote of the slave's dead issues and address ourselves to that labor by which something tangible can be accomplished. Have given up regular old party principles that inspired our hearts while fighting beneath the stars and bars. If we are to engage in a Quixotic warfare against principles that are as well settled as the field of Waterloo and the surrender of Appomattox, I prefer to go back to the source of all these wrongs, and fight the windmills themselves instead of the currents of air that they have set in motion. We may have been South Carolina nullifiers, but nullification is dead under the changed aspect of affairs resulting from the war. If there were errors in the past, the young Democracy of this day ought not to be clogged with them. Nor can we make the grand truths that have been available in the battle on which we ought to enter with an unbroken front. There are a thousand questions of substance for discussion, important on which the Democracy of the North, the South, the East, and the West can unite and march to victory. It is not only senseless, but it is absolutely unfair, to ask our Democratic brethern of the North to unite with us in fighting dead issues, in changing the legitimate results of the war, in trying to undo three-fourths of them by wrought to bring about. And without a national party nothing can be accomplished. We cannot go to battle against the great monster of Radicalism with a Northern and Southern wing. Men (red-hot mean) blow about principles. And of all men in the world those who make loudest cry of their Godlike principles have least of the article, and are the most consummate demagogues. They understand as little of the fundamental principles involved in the issues of the war, for instance, as a blind mule does of astronomy. I understand by principles, as applied to man's individual, moral nature, something very different from the meaning of the term when used in its public, political sense. And yet, every little mass, or petty clique of little men, has its principles, and must rush their little propositions (which they mistake for principles) into the arena. Hence the numerous factions in our social society to surrender something to the public good (even in the way of principles), or to public policy, if you please, for the common good and welfare of the whole. So, when he enters into a political party he is expected to surrender some of his prejudices at least. The principles that influence a party of men may be very different in their general nature, scope and bearing from what is understood when applied to the individual mind. Principles which are the spirit of party differ as much from principles that move the individual as public policy differs from individual policy. Medicinal law, it is said, sometimes deals unjustly by the individual. But though the individual may suffer wrong, the law, in the main, is right. Government, the law of nations, the universal cause,

Acts not by special, but by general laws."

And though sometimes party policy may do violence to some man's idea of abstract principles, it does not follow that the man who supports and indorses that policy is amenable to the charge of a want of moral character. Give to the individual his principles, but give to the party a sensible, matter-of-fact, look-at-things-as-they-are, sound, practical policy. DEMOCRAT.

DUBLIN, August 12.

Safely across the sea, in less than nine days, we brought temporary rest amid the beautiful scenery of Killarney. For a full description I will refer to Murray. Suffice it, that our party was properly performed by the payment of extra money to take the jaunting-car ride of ten miles, succeeded by four miles on pony across the mountain, and a twelve-mile ride in a roadcar over the placid waters of the lakes to the head of the bay. The boat began without one intense admission by the double echo in the gap of Dunloe, each note rising in regularly repeated in the second harmonious cadences with the most wonderful precision.

KATE KEARNEY'S GRAND-DAUGHTER

(as old women luxuriously delinient in the personal charms of the ancestress) was in the bottle of potheen and goat's milk to be quaffed, but the delicious (?) mixture was declined, though to avoid the dose the usual fee was cheerfully deposited. Thus the descendant makes a good livelihood in the mountains from the hereditary reputation of the beauteous Kate. Further on is the hut of Danny Mann, who traveled over the same route (taken by the tourists) to drown in the deep waters of the Lake the Colleen Bawn. Around Killarney, a village of about 9,000 inhabitants, there are many signs of prosperity. The two members of Parliament, Lord Castlerosse and Mr. Herbert, possess extensive estates, which are cultivated with excellent judgment, and the tenant houses seem to be as comfortable and convenient as any country can produce. Being a great resort for tourists, many thousands of pounds are annually left to enrich the hotel-keepers and the hundreds of dependents who are thus furnished with employment. The "Victoria," for instance,

How many scores of runners it has besides one can judge by the item. Daniel O'Connell's brother, Sir James, lives in this vicinity, and also the O'Donohue, member for Tralee, the county seat. Both have lost their former popularity, the position of their warm support of the English Government. The O'Donohue is the descendant of the Irish chieftain, whose castle was the last armed place in Ireland to resist the troops of Cromwell, and the old fort, in good preservation, is now the property of Lord Castlerosse.

the farms seemed to be as well cultivated as in England. The crops are good, and there will be enough for home use, with evidences of much produce emigration. It would seem as if the country could support its entire population in comfort, but beneath the surface are the trouble and the cause. Among the many of the landed proprietors, who neither care for their tenantry nor spend their leisure time among them, is the noble in Ireland to induce Great Britain to re-establish an Irish parliament to legislate for local interests and to relinquish a vice regal court of higher grade, at which the Prince of Wales shall preside for several months. This would, if successful, induce the coming also of the gentry and nobility, who are estimated to have spent thirty-five millions out of the pockets of the people. These appropriations, which are wholly unknown a few years ago, have growing gradually, until they now sum up tens of thousands annually.—[N. Y. Sun.

THE WAR.

In every locality the predominant sentiment is sympathy for France. Crowds block up the streets in front of the bulletin boards to learn the news as dispatches come. Yesterday a correspondent of the Express had an interview with the Empress to be in danger. But for the Queen's proclamation enacting stringent penalties for violations of neutrality, and also the difficulty of reaching France,

THE EMPEROR COULD ENLIST 500,000 men in Ireland in a week. They seem to feel the French reverses almost as much as the French themselves. You have doubtless had the many absurd rumors that have been flying for a week past, published down you will find scarcely a grain of truth. Your dispatches come from English and German sources, and the Times is so generally quoted as authority that you will always get of French victories and revolutions, etc. "The wish is father to the thought." Doubtless the Emperor has given many slights to this would be confidence of English opinion, and the latest is the refusal to allow the correspondent of the Times to write bulletins or remain at his headquarters. The Times quotes from a letter to Bismarck (as it had been published in Berlin; and, undoubtedly, the Emperor is wise in kicking out all the English correspondents, as they soon undertake to become spies, and undoubtedly nothing but Prussian spies, and as he could not discriminate, the better and more honorable plan was to shake the same fate from all. We are not to suppose that the entire English population is so lost to all sense of decency and courtesy, as the Times and other radical journals are Germans, and their sympathy for Prussia is unmistakable; because the Crown Prince is additionally allied to them by his marriage to the Queen's eldest daughter. Many of the Liberals, however, lean strongly to France, and consequently make up the journals and the standing the Morning Post ridicules the idea of revolutions, even among the fickle and Red Republican Parisians, or that the Empress or any royal dress can be in danger. The leading Conservative journal, the London Standard, yesterday said:

Against a wild, unreasonable, mischievous outburst of the entire English public opinion in favor of Prussia, and to force England into hostilities on the side of France, the Queen's Government has resisted. We protest even more emphatically against the disgraceful attempts of English Liberals to create a revolution in France, and to help Prussian Generals by creating division among French parties. Happily the overwhelming majority of English newspapers, as after the French defeat. Such language as that of the Liberal journalists is a real danger to England. This cheering over a French misfortune is unmanly, is irritating as it is insulting, and is the more unpardonable because it is unprovoked. We protest,

The News by Cable.

At the time of this writing there are reports of a victory of McMahon over the Crown Prince, but no confirmation. It is very probable that these two forces have come together, and that a severe conflict has ensued. According to the contradictory reports of yesterday they were either marching in the same direction or confronting each other. It may be that Bazaine has got part of his force away from Metz, as before reported, joined McMahon, and the two, taking the Crown Prince unawares, have pitched into him and seriously injured him. Our second edition this morning may contain something further.

Rural Lovers.

There arrived on the Lebanon train yesterday a couple of lovers from Tennessee, whose eccentricities attracted much attention both at the Nashville depot and the bridge. The parties were evidently lovers of the old time kind who were not afraid to prove to the public that they were lovers, and whenever an opportunity offered an exhibition was certain. They were en route from Tennessee to Ottowa, Kansas, and between them they possessed a large chest which contained all they possessed of this world's goods. While at the bridge depot, and all alone in the passengers' sitting-room, their demonstrations of affection, which were really comical, were witnessed by quite a number of observers who were outside the building peeping through the cracks. About five o'clock in the afternoon the excitement ran high as to the movements of this blissful pair, and persons congregated about the aforesaid cracks from squares around to see the funny show. While the fun was at its highest, a party of ladies entered the sitting-room to await the train from New Albany, and during their stay the loving couple appeared to be miserable; but fortunately for them the train did not tarry long, and they were again left in their glory. After the exhibition was resumed, a waggish attache of the railroad entered the sitting-room, and engaged in conversation with the gentleman upon the subject of the best route to take to reach his distination in the quickest time; but during the conversation the wag suffered himself to laugh in the face of the "green'un" from Tennessee, when the latter took the hint, and quicker than thought drew a large navy pistol from beneath his coat and commanded the railroader to "git," and he got. This incident created a hearty laugh upon the platform, as well as among the crowd of observers at the cracks in the wall, and for a few moments their attention was drawn away from the lovers. Finding that they were again free from the intrusion of disinterested persons, the very demonstrative courtship was again renewed and kept up until ten o'clock at night, when it was again disturbed by the arrival of passengers for the same train for which they were waiting.

Sunday Schools.

The fifth annual meeting of the Kentucky Sunday-school Association will be held in Bowling Green on Tuesday, the 30th inst., to continue three days. The object of the meeting is to discuss the best methods of conducting these schools. Some of the topics are these: The Sunday school—the cheapest and most efficient agency for spreading the Gospel; country Sunday schools—how to organize, conduct and sustain them. county Sunday-school conventions; training of teachers; how to teach; infant class teaching; Biblical geography; necessity of united effort to promote the work in Kentucky; preparation for teaching: qualifications and duties of superintendents; Sunday-school institutes; helps to the teacher; teachers' Bible classes and meetings. This wide range of subjects will be treated by persons appointed to introduce the discussions, when the subjects will be thrown open to the convention. Among the gentlemen expected to be there and to take part in the meeting are the Rev. Drs. McKee, Riley, Humphrey, Chase, Dawson and Badger, of this city; the Rev. Geo. W. Brush, of Jefferson county; Amos Shinkle, of Covington; the Rev. Dr. A. J. Baird, of Nashville; Rev. Thomas Bottomly and Rev. Henry McDonald, of Covington; B. M. Patton, Esq., of this city, and other active supporters and practical workers in Sunday-schools. All the leading religious denominations of the State are represented in the convention, its objects being eminently catholic and unsectarian.

The citizens of Bowling Green will entertain delegates free of charge, and arrangements have been made with the railroads by which delegates paying full fare to Bowling Green will be returned free. The fullest invitation is given to Ministers of the Gospel, Superintendents of Sabbath-schools, and all others interested in the good work to be present. Our best wishes attend all such praiseworthy undertakings.

Trial of the Brewers.

Yesterday was an interesting day to the manufacturers of malt liquors, as the case of the city against quite a number of the above gentlemen was to be heard. Mr. Dannaker opened the case for the defense, and made quite a lengthy argument against the constitutionality of the ordinance. During the argument Mr. D. read from the city charter to prove that it was contradictory in its own provisions, and cited that on page 41 the following language was used: "That the license for each brewer shall not be less than $50, nor more than $500," when, on page 48, the following contradictory provision appeared: "No tax shall be assessed on tools and implements of manufacturers in said city; nor any license be required of them for selling their own manufactures." Mr. Dannaker was followed by Col. Hagan, for the city, who contended that the Council had entire control of the matter, and had not overstepped their authority in any particular. He said that he did not suppose it would be disputed that the city has a right to tax the lawyer, the doctor, or the merchant, and he was sure the brewer was as fairly under the control of the Council as any of these. His arguments as well as those of Mr. Dannaker were well supported by the authorities. Col. Hagan was followed by Mr. Mix in the same line of argument as that of Mr. Dannaker.

After a thorough review of the whole case, Judge Craig said that he felt himself compelled to enforce the ordinance, and therefore assessed a fine of $25 each on all brewers doing business without license. Exceptions were taken to the ruling of the court, and an appeal asked, which was granted. The case will be taken to the higher court, where a final adjustment will be made. It must be understood that there were some twenty cases of the above character, but the first being called the facts were agreed and the arguments heard in behalf of the whole.

A Serious Charge.

Night before last a party of men went to the house of Mollie Myers, on Franklin street, and forced their way in, carrying with them a rock that would weigh about 150 pounds, which they placed against the door to prevent its being opened while they were accomplishing their designs. After they had made everything secure they commenced to take liberties with the landlady, which are very unusual among well-meaning people. When they had accomplished all they desired they very quietly made a hasty retreat. Last night two men, one by the name of Tierney, and the other we will not mention, as he was not identified, were arrested and taken to the house of Mollie, where Tierney was identified as being one of the party. The others, thus far, have eluded the vigilance of the police, but will undoubtedly be brought to justice, as they are well known. The case will come up before Judge Craig this morning under a charge of drunkenness and destruction of property.

Yesterday morning about 11 o'clock Justice Stephens was summoned to appear at the United States Hotel armed and equipped, ready to unite a couple in matrimony. Mr. Thomas Greggory was married in the parlor of the States to Miss Mattie L. Ackerman. Both parties are residents of this county.

CITY BUSINESS.

Stone's Patent Tobacco Plug Machine on Exhibition at Messrs. Finzer & Bros.'s Tobacco Factory.

In another column of this issue of the COURIER-JOURNAL will be found the advertisement of Mr. J. W. Stone's justly-celebrated patent tobacco plug machine, now in operation and on exhibition at the extensive tobacco factory of Messrs. Finzer & Bros., No. 18 Third street, between Main street and the river. We took occasion to look through Messrs. Finzer & Bros.'s establishment yesterday from cellar to attic, and those who take an interest in Louisville's industrial enterprises will find themselves well repaid for their time and trouble in viewing the various processes through which the weed passes until, as pancake, plug, and twist, it bears the various brands of this popular house and is sent forth to the markets of the country. This firm, which is so extensively engaged in manufacturing plug tobacco, has one of Stone's patent plug machines in full operation, and unhesitatingly pronounce it just what is wanted by manufacturers of plug tobacco. The simplicity of its construction is remarkable, so simple indeed that it is fully understood in a few minutes. It is operated by a man and two boys, and with this force can turn out from 4,000 to 5,000 pounds of plugs in a day of ten hours. Mr. Stone has fully succeeded in introducing the principle upon which the pressure is regulated so that the finest grades can be pressed through the machine without damage to the color. The machine can be promptly adjusted so as to make narrow or wide, long or short plugs as may be desired, and this has not been accomplished by any other machine forming the plugs from the natural leaf. Another advantage of Stone's machine is that it delivers the plug with smooth edges, and, often being finished in the molds, cannot be detected from hand-made plugs. Considering the large amount of tobacco one of these machines has the capacity of turning out daily, the superiority of the work performed, its simplicity, and the small expense attending its operation, we unhesitatingly hazard the opinion that it is destined at no distant day to take the place of all other similar machines. Several of these machines have been for months past in successful operation in Kentucky and Tennessee, and thereabouts here, are giving the most unqualified satisfaction. These machines are now being manufactured by Messrs. Barbaroux & Co., of this city, and we are confident that if our manufacturers will spend a short time in witnessing the work of the one now in operation at Messrs. Finzer & Bro.'s they will be induced to purchase. Mr. Stone, the ingenious inventor, deserves well of the trade, and has only to introduce his invention to meet with a sale commensurate with its acknowledged advantages.

"THE NEW ELEMENT."

Refusing to Accept Negro Votes.

Mr. Edward Hord and Mr. —— Swift, of the city of Frankfort, were yesterday brought before his Honor Judge Ballard, of the United States District Court, to answer for an alleged interference with the right of certain negroes to vote at a late election held in that city. An examination of the case showed that H. simply refused to accept the vote of a negro man who, he had good reason to suppose, was not of age, and who refused to make affidavit that he was a legal voter. The evidence not warranting his detention, he was discharged.

The testimony against Swift was somewhat stronger, and his case was continued until today. We understand that his action in the matter is all the more repugnant to the Radicals on account of his former affiliation with that party.

The Congressional Canvass.

General Humphrey Marshall and Hon. E. S. Craig addressed the people of the upper portion of the city at the corner of Clay and Green streets last night. The audience, though not large, was a very orderly and attentive one, and for nearly two hours listened to the indictments brought against the Radical party by those two gentlemen, and to the whys and wherefores of their own peculiar fitness to fill a seat in the Congress of the United States. General Marshall observed, in the course of his remarks, that he understood some doubt was entertained as to what relation he intended to hold to the nominating convention. He had intended to be understood when he spoke upon this subject heretofore, but since then some men had cavilled at what they termed the ambiguity of his expressions, and had attempted to make something out of it. He had to say he would abide the decision of the convention, and would not be a candidate unless nominated by it. He had seen the mode of balloting determined on by the City Executive Committee and submitted to it, though he would have preferred day-light voting. However, he would go before the convention, and he urged his friends everywhere to see to it that their names were enrolled, and that tickets were formed pledged to vote for him in the convention.

A Mistake.

The paragraph below is taken from the Evansville Journal, and bears absurdity on its face, for if a steamboat clerk or any other kind of clerk should be arrested for drunkenness he would certainly know that even if his case came to trial and he should be fined it would not amount to twenty dollars, besides, Judge Craig, of the City Court, is not in the habit of imposing any kind of penalty for the first offense of drunkenness. We are rather inclined to think that the Journal has been taken in, as the whole story does not seem to have much foundation:

Louisville has a new way of making money. A steamboat clerk passed through that city the other night to join his boat at Cincinnati. As he was leaving an eating-house a policeman struck him on the socket, and, discovering that he carried a pistol, at once arrested and dragged him off to the lock-up, where he was compelled to stay all night, notwithstanding he offered any amount of bail or a sufficient money deposit to cover fine and costs. The next day he was taken before the Police Court and discharged, his case not coming under the ordinance, but he had to pay a twenty-dollar lawyer fee and lock-up fee. That process would be called highway robbery outside of Louisville.

Court-room Loafers.

It is a little strange what a morbid appetite some people have for loafing around the City Court-room. Not a morning passes but a crowd of vagabonds and negroes will cram around the railing in that court-room, and puff and steam themselves until notified that the court has adjourned, and then they seem loth to leave the place. Some remedy ought to be had for this, and we believe that remedy is very simple, to wit: arrest a few for vagrancy and the rest will be very apt to leave in disgust. It is not intended that a court-room should be a loafing-place, and the sooner loafers are taught this the better it will be for those actually having business there.

Struck with a Spike.

Yesterday afternoon a negro boy named Thos. Smith, employed by the contractor for the improvement of Ninth street as a cart driver, while driving his team past a party of men engaged in repairing telegraph wires opposite the Nashville depot, was struck with a long spike attached to a pole, in the hands of a man named Mower. The boy fell to the ground and was carried to a doctor, who found a wound four inches deep in the groin. Officer Butler, hearing of the affair, went to arrest Mower, but he had taken his departure for unknown quarters. The affair is said to have been wholly unprovoked on the part of the negro.

Fire at Smithfield.

Night before last the old frame hotel opposite the depot at Smithfield, Ky., occupied by Mr. Vaughn as a hotel, took fire and was entirely consumed. It is not known how the fire originated, but is supposed to have been by accident. The loss will amount to about $5,000, of which $2,000 is covered by insurance. About fifty-three barrels of whisky were in the house at the time and were consumed in the flames.

BASE BALL.

"I's," of Indianapolis, vs. the Eagles.

A heavy rain storm before noon yesterday and a second one about 2 o'clock p. m. created the impression generally that the match game at Cedar Hill between the "I's," of Indianapolis, and the Eagles, of this city, would necessarily be postponed. The players, however, were promptly on hand, and the grounds having rapidly dried and being found in good condition, the game was called at 4 o'clock, there being a fair attendance [illegible] ladies [illegible] to see the sport.

The game was decidedly the best and most interesting played at Cedar Hill this season. The "I's" are a remarkably fine-looking set of gentlemen, and their fine manners and courteous bearing at once secured the favor of the crowd. They played vigorously, fielding in fine style, securing every fly sent to them and making but few errors. They were notable, however, to bat Booth's balls successfully, and they soon discovered that the Eagles were masters of the situation. Their catcher and center-fielder particularly distinguished themselves. The Eagles played remarkably well, as the score shows, both at the bat and in the field. Booth pitched admirably, delivering his balls with force and precision and showing a marked improvement with every game. McCullough caught in very superior style, stopping the balls splendidly, and only allowing one or two to pass him during the evening. He also threw to bases well, but lost one or two good opportunities by too much deliberation. Graham at first and Bodley at third were very efficient, while Muir at second and Bayless at short-stop had plenty to do, and fairly surpassed themselves, and their playing is always good. But few balls reached the Eagle out-fielders, and Truman managed to muff the first easy fly that came to him. At the bat the Eagles scarcely came up to their usual standard.

The umpiring by Ives was superb. It was prompt, decided, and strictly impartial, and this, with the dead ball used, did much to make the game so interesting.

The applause of the crowd was very fair and was given heartily to every good play made by the strangers.

The following are the full details of the fine game:

FIRST INNING.

"I's"—Morrison's fly to the right was muffed by G. Truman, and he took first. Parr's high fly was taken by Muir on second. Morrison, in trying to steal second, was thrown out by McCullough to Muir. Hopkinson's bounder to short was fielded to first by Bayless in time. A whitewash.

Eagle—Bodley's high fly back of third was taken by E. Ketchum. Muir got first on a safe grounder to right. Booth to first on called balls. Anderson brought both home on a liner to center. Shepherd reached first by a wild throw of Sheets to F. Ketchum. Graham's grounder between first and second sent him to first; Anderson and Shepherd score. Bayless, by a fine liner to left took second. McCullough's fly in left was captured by Sharp. Truman made first on a grounder between short and second. Bodley took first on a bounder past third. G. Truman was thrown out by Morrison to E. Ketchum while trying to steal third. Six runs.

SECOND INNING.

"I's"—E. Ketchum's grounder to second found its way into Graham's hands. McCullough kindly accepted McDonald's foul bounder. Sheet's foul fly was handsomely taken by Graham. Another whitewash.

Eagle—Bodley's fly was captured by Sharp. Muir was thrown out at first by Smith to F. Ketchum. Booth took second on a hot grounder past third, and home on Anderson's fly, which was muffed by Parr. Anderson got as far as second, but was left there by Shepherd, who went out on a foul bound by Smith.

Total—"I's" 0; Eagle, 7.

THIRD INNING.

"I's"—Sharp returned on a foul fly taken by Booth. F. Ketchum ditto by McCullough. Smith was saved by Graham's muffing a ball thrown by Bayless. Morrison to first on called balls. Parr's fly dropped into Muir's hands and stuck. Morrison and Smith left. Another whitewash.

Eagles—Booley to first on a liner to left. Muir's high fly to center was caught by McDonald. Booth followed suit and went out on a fly by the left fielder. Graham's grounder to second was well stopped by Smith, but thrown wild to first. McCullough knocked a grounder to third and reached first. Sheets fumbled with G. Truman's grounder and George was safe on first. Graham's foul fly was taken by Smith, a splendid backward running catch.

"I's" 0, Eagles 10.

FOURTH INNING.

"I's"—Hopkinson's third strike was muffed by McCullough, but was thrown out by Mac to Graham. E. Ketchum reached first on his grounder to third. McDonald to first on called balls. Sheets thrown out at first by Booth to Graham. F. Ketchum's third strike was muffed by McCullough, and he reached first, but was run out while trying to steal second by Muir and Graham.

Eagle—Anderson was thrown out at first by Smith to F. Ketchum. Shepherd's foul fly was taken by Morrison. Ditto Graham's foul bound.

"I's," 3; Eagles, 10.

FIFTH INNING.

"I's"—Smith thrown out by Bodley to Muir. Morrison made his base on a safe lick to short but was thrown out by Bodley to Muir. Hopkinson was thrown out by Booth to Bodley after having gained his base. Ketchum and McDonald left.

Eagle—Bayless took first on a liner to left, and came home on a passed ball. McCullough made first on a safe grounder to third. G. Truman took first on a bounder past second, and was forced off at second by Bodley's lick to third. Muir made second on a swift grounder past third, and ran out between third and second by E. Ketchum and Smith. Booth got second on a liner to left. Anderson's fly was taken by E. Ketchum on third.

"I's", 4; Eagles, 14.

SIXTH INNING.

"I's"—E. Ketchum made first on a "daisy cutter" by Bayless. McDonald was not so fortunate, however, as he went out on first by Bayless to Graham. Sheets to first on a liner to second. Sharp out on a fly by Bodley. F. Ketchum thrown out by Bayless to Graham.

Eagle—Shepherd to first on called balls. Graham was sent to first on a lick to second. Bayless out on a fly by Sheets. McCullough to first on a low bounder to left. G. Truman got to first on a bad muff of McDonald's. Bodley was thrown out by Hopkinson to F. Ketchum. Booth's third strike was muffed by Smith, but was thrown to first in time to put him out. "I's," 6; Eagle, 18.

SEVENTH INNING.

"I's"—Smith thrown out by Bayless to Graham. Morrison knocked a terribly swift liner to Graham, and Morrison retired. A fine catch. Parr reached first on a grounder back of third. Hopkinson was thrown out by Bodley to Graham.

Eagle—Anderson out on a fly to Smith. Shepherd tried ditto to Sheets. Graham knocked a grounder into first baseman's hands and retired. A whitewash.

"I's," 6; Eagle, 18.

EIGHTH INNING.

"I's"—E. Ketchum to first on called balls. McDonald made first on a grounder past second. Sheets thrown out by Booth to Graham. Sharp fouled out to McCullough. F. Ketchum thrown out by Muir to Graham.

Eagles—Bayless out on a hot liner by McDonald; a splendid catch. McCullough took first on a grounder past third. G. Truman to first on a lick to short. Bodley got to first, but was afterward thrown out by Morrison to Smith. Muir out on a foul fly by E. Ketchum.

"I's," 7; Eagles 20.

NINTH INNING.

The Junior Reds at Lexington.

SCORE—JUNIOR REDS 18, ORIONS 9.

[Special Dispatch to the Courier-Journal.]

LEXINGTON, KY., Aug. 25.—The game to-day between the Red Stockings, junior, and the Orion clubs was very exciting, showing sharp playing on both sides. The third baseman for the Red Stockings took a beautiful liner hot from the bat. Jones, catcher, for the Orions, played sharp all through the game, and Chicagoed the little Reds one inning by himself, taking three foul tips from the bat in one, two, three order. Hacker, first base for Orions, made a home run on a clear hit to left center field, being the only home run made during the game. Swift, center fielder for the Orions, did some fine catching, both on the run and standing. He also batted excellently.

The Orions played only six of their first nine, and they think with another showing they can take some of the feathers out of the little Reds' cap.

The score stood, Reds, 18; Orions, 9.

The Reds, Jr., play at Frankfort to-morrow with the Valleys.

The "I's" and Eagles again To-Day.

The Indianapolis boys yesterday very confidently looked for a victory over the Eagles, and still feeling strong in their belief of their ability to master them they proposed to remain over another day and give them a tug at Cedar Hill this afternoon. The game yesterday was a beautiful one, full of interest and excitement from first to last. The "I's" are fine players and as they will put forth their best efforts to-day we can promise those who visit Cedar Hill this afternoon a treat that will be a treat. If the lovers of the game could only understand what they missed yesterday the grounds would be crowded this evening, if the ladies have the taste we give them credit for they will occupy every seat in the stand this afternoon.

Mutuals vs. Forest Citys.

The third and deciding game of the series between the Mutuals, of New York, and the Forest City Club, of Cleveland, came off at the Capitoline Grounds, New York, Wednesday, and was won by the New Yorkers.

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Mutuals	2	5	0	1	1	3	3	0	1	—16
Forest Citys	1	2	0	3	5	1	3	0	0	—15

The I's Game at Jeffersonville.

The following is the score by innings of the "I's," of Indianapolis, game at Jeffersonville, Wednesday:

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
"I's"	5	12	1	6	5	9	0	9	15	—71
Jeff's	7	1	3	2	3	0	5	2	0	—23

The Junior Reds, having defeated both clubs at Lexington in well-played games, try their hands with the Valleys at Frankfort this afternoon, and will be here to play the Eagles to-morrow.

Chicago's $20,000 team, as reconstructed, will play as follows: King, c.; Pinkham, p.; McAtee, 1st b.; Wood, 2d b.; Meyerle, 3d b.; Keerl, s. s.; Treacy, Cuthbert and Flynn in the out-field.

The Falls City Club will hold an important meeting at Bert's to-night, which it is desirable shall be attended by all the members.

The Live Oaks, of Cincinnati, beat the Resolutes, of Hamilton, O., Wednesday, by a score of 37 to 18.

The Forest City Club, of Rockford, defeated the Baltic Juniors, of Chicago, by 17 to 13.

Perrine, Smith and Willard will not play with the Harvard nine in future.

The Red Stockings play the Riversides at Portsmouth to-day.

WE are told that "a German publisher in New York last week gave each of the eleven men in the editorial rooms fifty dollars to celebrate the Prussian victories with." It is a singular coincidence that there are just eleven men in these editorial rooms also. But there the coincidence ends. The publisher doesn't seem to care whether they celebrate anybody's victories or not.

FOR a number of weeks a man calling himself Dr. Daniels has been in the habit of sleeping in the old grave-yard, on Jefferson street, between Eleventh and Twelfth. Last night he retired there as usual, but caterpillars, mosquitoes and bald-headed gnats gnawed and crawled upon him with too much vim for endurance. He reluctantly vamosed the ranche.

A GENTLEMAN living on the corner of Twenty-third and Jefferson streets is the possessor of a pair of fine game chickens. About four weeks ago the hen hatched out eleven chickens. A few days since she abandoned them and commenced laying. The rooster took charge of them and devotes his whole time to their care—clucking and scratching for them during the day and covering them with his wings at night. There are a number of hens on the place, but he is proof against all manner of hen fascinations, and attends strictly to the business of rearing the abandoned chicks.

Good Place for Sleepers.

Yesterday was a "nappy" time in the City Court. The ordinance docket being called and it being generally understood that grave constitutional questions were to be discussed, lawyers and spectators prepared for a comfortable nap. At one time we noticed about nineteen negroes (all in a row) and fourteen lawyers all taking a quiet little "nod" and bobbing their heads back and forth as though on ship-board.

Carbolic Alkali for Horses.

[To the Editor of the Courier-Journal.]

Having had the carbolic alkali recommended to me as a wash for hogs when attacked by cholera, I tried an experiment on an old brood mare with a foal at her side, or rather feet, as in consequence of extreme age she was too weak to rise and was unable to obtain the required sustenance in a woods pasture. When she was brought to a box for the purpose of removing the flies, which were literally eating her up, I ordered the application. The negro attendant said "her eyes were set" and that she would die in an hour. At the expiration of an hour the flies were driven off by the alkali, and the animal is now better than she has been in six months.

Read what Mr. Hixson says in regard to it:

THE FAR WEST.

Fate of the Big Horn Expedition—Excitement of Railroad Agents—Movements of Germans and Scandinavians—Distribution of Goods to the Sioux Indians.

OMAHA, NEB., Aug. 24.—The first Big Horner has arrived at Cheyenne, and gives the following statement. The last that had been heard from the party was from the troops sent to bring them in, when they were at Grey Ball river. The miners prospected thereabouts several days without success. It was then resolved to divide into three parties and return to Camp Brown, South Pass, and thence to Bryan, on the Union Pacific railroad. Another party of about the same number abandoned their wagons, taking pack animals, and set out for Montana across the country. Another party of fifty or sixty, with six wagons, took a northerly route for the same destination, expecting to strike the Old Baseman road within a hundred miles of their camp. Every privation has been endured by these men. No Indians were seen by them after leaving Fort Brown. The only death in the party was that of Henry McHenry, who had gone hunting, lost his way, and died from starvation. Nine days from the time McHenry was lost his dog came into camp in a famished condition. A few days later the man's remains were found, with gun and ammunition by his side. The expedition has been a failure in every respect, as at no place were paying prospects found after the party left Sweetwater.

A general invitation has been given by the Union Pacific Railroad to all general ticket, passenger, and freight agents to join in an excursion to the Pacific coast, to leave Omaha on the 14th of September.

Patrick McGee, a negro who escaped from jail here yesterday, has not yet been recaptured.

A hundred Germans and Scandinavians have left Lincoln, Nebraska, to form a settlement on the Republican river.

Mr. Bruno and Robert Campbell are here, expecting to leave for Forts Laramie and Fetterman to distribute goods to the Sioux as soon as the chiefs of that tribe can be heard from.

Near Osceola, Iowa, a few days ago, Col. Langdon was found murdered. His son-in-law, Samuel Roberts, was suspected of having committed the crime, and a son of Langdon shot Roberts and then surrendered himself to the authorities, and was held in $500 bonds to await the issue of Robert's wound.

It is expected that forty thousand persons will be present at the approaching Iowa soldiers' reunion at Des Moines. President Grant has written that he cannot be present.
